The Kulturpark is a former 19th-century Hungarian army barracks, reconstructed in 2012, and has become a multi-purpose cultural space for art exhibitions, theatre productions, and music concerts.

Kasárne Kulturpark is the largest and most extensive investment project within the European Capital of Culture 2013, Košice. After the reconstruction of the dilapidated, but historically interesting and spacious barracks buildings, one of the largest cultural centres in Slovakia was created. The transformation of the buildings has created a collective background for the creation, presentation and support of art and contemporary creative, authentic, and highly experimental culture. The main purpose of the cultural centre is to provide an exceptional space for the creation and presentation of high-quality multi-genre artistic production.

Part of the venue is also Papa coffee with a selection of drinks, desserts and other drinks and snacks open daily during the conference.

INFORMATION ABOUT KOŠICE + ACCOMMODATION

Košice

In terms of its size and importance in the Slovak Republic, the city of Košice ranks right after the capital Bratislava. It lies in the eastern part of Slovakia, not far from the borders with Hungary (20 km), Ukraine (80 km) and Poland (90 km).

The advantages of this location, near the borders of three states and lying on important domestic and international transport routes, translate into the preconditions for good commercial connectivity. This is significantly enhanced by the existing railway junction and airport with international status.

Košice has a strong economic background, and the city creates employment opportunities for the population of the surrounding region as well as its own. The biggest local employer is the U. S. Steel Košice steelworks, and of the total number of registered employees in the city, the great majority work in the industrial sphere. The education and transport sectors are also strongly represented here.
